PRESENTATION TO MR. J. H. STEWART LOCKHART, BY THE HONGKONG CIVIL SERVANTS.

At noon to-day the members of the Hongkong Executive and Legislative Councils assembled at the City Hall for the purpose of presenting the Hon. J. H. Stewart Lockhart with an address. The Chief Justice, His Lordship W. H. Goodman, presided and among a large company present were the Hon. R. Murray Rumsey, Hon. A. G. Wise, Hon. A. W. Brewin, Hon. Dr. J. O. Kai, and representatives of all the Government Departments.

His Lordship in making the presentation, said that the members of the Executive and Legislative Councils and fellow members in the Civil Service of Hongkong had asked Mr. Stewart Lockhart to meet them that day in order that they might have the opportunity of bidding him a kind farewell before he left to take up his new post at Wei-hai-wei. They had thought it better to do that day rather than to delay it until he was in the midst of busy and worry incident to which would in due course be forwarded to him when the list of signatures was complete. As the hot weather approached the annual cry of "What a lot of people are leaving" was always heard. He was sorry to say this year they had not only to face the usual migration on leave but were losing for all time many whom they would gladly have retained in their midst. The familiar faces of Sir Thomas Jackson, Mr. Thurburn, Mr. Palmer, Dr. Hartigan, Mr. Gillies and many others would be sadly missed by Hongkong residents, and in addition to other losses they were next week to lose Mr. Lockhart. Men of the Mark Tapley order would no doubt try to cheer themselves with the proverb "There are as good fish in the sea as those which have come out of it," but the difficulty was to catch them when you wanted them, and as we grew older we were inclined to feel more and more that "a good bird in the hand was worth two in the bush." But they could quite understand that long and excellent service as Colonial Secretary ought to mean promotion, and were all, for Mr. Lockhart's sake, heartily glad that he had obtained it. That absolutely restless thing Time left its marks upon all. He believed the ancients depicted it as an old man carrying an hour glass and a scythe. Through that glass the sands of all their lives were running rapidly, but in Mr. Lockhart's case, at all events, the hour glass had to be reversed, and a fresh lease of life, and he doubted not one of still increased usefulness and happiness, was accorded to Mr. Lockhart in other scenes of action. He presumed the scythe was suggestive of reaping, and they doubted not that in his case the harvest time would be, as it should be, one of happiness and satisfaction; because the good and healthy seed he sowed long ago and fostered by hard work and energy, had now ripened into the golden grain of public approbation, as was shown by the numerous farewell addresses which had been presented to him. As he not only received one yesterday, but he believed, had also received another that morning, already, he would not tire him by prolonging his preliminary remarks, but would proceed to read the address which they desired to present to him.

The address, which was beautifully illuminated, was as follows:—
Hongkong, 1st April, 1902.

To The Honourable J. H. Stewart Lockhart, C.M.G., F.R.G.S., M.R.A.S.

Sir—The Colony of Hongkong has been your home for more than twenty years, and we cannot allow you to leave the place without asking you to accept a few words of congratulation and our good wishes. So long ago as 1878 you were appointed to a Hongkong "Cadeship" and since that time your life has been mainly passed in this Colony and your best efforts have been directed to its interests and advancement. The services which you have rendered to Hongkong are neither few nor unimportant.

In 1881, you were the Superintendent of the Opium Revenue and filled the position of Assistant Colonial Secretary and Assistant Auditor General; in the following year you became Acting Registrar General in 1887. Two years later you took your seat at the Legislative Council of the Colony, and in 1891 at the Executive Council. In 1894 you filled the office of Acting Colonial Secretary, and in the succeeding year took up the position of Colonial Secretary and Registrar General, since which period you have discharged the duties of the high office which you are now relinquishing. Further, in the year 1898, you were appointed Special Commissioner in report on the extension of the Colony's boundaries, and in 1899 Representative of Great Britain for the delimitation of those boundaries. For the way in which you carried out these important functions, you, upon each occasion, received the thanks of the Right Honourable the Secretary of State. On numerous Committees, dealing with matters of interest and moment to the Colony, you have served as Chairman or Secretary and your national love of sports, especially in connection with the Victoria Rowing Club and the Hongkong Football Club, is too well known to call for more than a passing word. You are leaving us now to assume the Commission of Wei-hai-wei, the far eastern advance post of Great Britain, and we look forward with confidence to your future, in the hope and belief that there lies before you a distinguished career in positions of still greater importance than those you have been already called upon to occupy. With regard to the various questions which had to be dealt with, from time to time, in the Legislative Council, you not only displayed both ability and tact, but you showed an unflinching courtesy to those whose opinions differed from your own. Your knowledge of the Chinese language, and the pains you have taken to make yourself intimately acquainted with the feelings and customs of the Chinese people, have greatly facilitated the harmonious official intercourse which has existed between the Government and that numerous and important Section of the Community. In bidding you farewell, we have desired to limit the signatures to this memento to those whose lives have been cast in the same Civil Service as your own and to the Unofficial members of Council who have had special opportunities of appreciating your arduous work.

Your Obedient Servants.

Then follow a large number of signatures. In the course of his reply, the Hon. J. H. Stewart Lockhart expressed the difficulty of finding words to adequately thank them for their very kind wishes contained in the address. No one could be more sensible of his shortcomings than he was himself, and it made one sad on looking back over the number of years he had resided in the Colony to think of the number of opportunities that one had lost and the many things that one had neglected which might have been done; but it was cheering to find, despite ones shortcomings, that friends rallied round on the eve of his departure to wish him all the good wishes that one could wish. He need hardly say that his regret at leaving Hongkong was very keen indeed, but the bitterness was to a great extent nullified by the recollection that though he was leaving the Colony he was leaving behind him real, trusted friends, who during many years had shown innumerable kindnesses which he would never forget. The present occasion was another illustration of those acts of kindness which he fully appreciated. The members of Council and his fellow Civil Servants had all one object in view, and that object was the prosperity of the Colony (Applause). Differences of opinion might arise at various times as to how that prosperity was to be best advanced, but their object was always the same and so long as members of the Council and members of the Civil Service co-operated heartily together there could be no doubt that the prosperity of the Colony already so great would become greater still (Applause). To Members of the Civil Service he could only say that he was proud indeed to have been one of their numbers for so many years. If other Colonies possessed a Civil Service like Hongkong they were to be envied, for nothing more he regretted so much as having to leave behind him his colleagues in the Civil Service who had always most loyally and heartily co-operated with him when he was Registrar-General, at the head of the department, and when he became Colonial Secretary. He observed that Mr. Goodman had referred to fishes in the sea and the difficulty of landing the real good fish. In Mr. May, however, who was to be his successor, a very excellent fish had been caught (Applause). Mr. May was a very old friend of his and he had known him during almost the whole of his time in Hongkong, and he was also well known to the community of the Colony. Therefore it did not require any words from him to commend him to the Colony. He felt perfectly certain that Mr. May would make an excellent Colonial Secretary, and would do much good work that had for its object the promotion of the welfare of Hongkong. Touching on the remarks that had been made respecting his departure for Wei-hai-wei, he said that at present it was almost an unknown country, though he trusted that under the British flag it would prosper. He promised them that he would do all in his power to make it prosper and when the day arrived for the Civil Servants he hoped it would be as efficient in that respect as Hongkong was to-day. He felt it was impossible for him to thank them sufficiently for all their kind remarks, and he could only say that he thanked them from the bottom of his heart (Applause). The Hon. R. Murray Rumsey called for three cheers for Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Lockhart, and after these had been given the meeting terminated.

THE CHINESE COMMUNITY, AND THE HON. J. H. STEWART LOCKHART.

Further testimony to the many benefits which have served the Colony so faithfully and well, the Hon. J. H. Stewart Lockhart, C.M.G., has bestowed upon the Colony was afforded this morning when the members of the Chinese community assembled at the City Hall and presented him with an illuminated address. The Hon. J. H. Stewart Lockhart, C.M.G., has bestowed upon the Colony was afforded this morning when the members of the Chinese community assembled at the City Hall and presented him with an illuminated address. The Hon. J. H. Stewart Lockhart, C.M.G., has bestowed upon the Colony was afforded this morning when the members of the Chinese community assembled at the City Hall and presented him with an illuminated address.

The Hon. Dr. Ho Kai said:—That on behalf of the Chinese community of Hongkong he had the honour to present Mr. Lockhart with an address which he would ask him to be kind enough to accept as a small token of their respect, esteem and affection. When the news of his high appointment to Wei-hai-wei first reached Hongkong no one rejoiced more than his Chinese friends and admirers, but very soon a feeling of impending loss cast a shadow over their gladness as they began to realise that ere long they would be forced to part with one whom, as an official, they were accustomed to meet with respect and, as a friend, to regard with affection. The severance of his official connection with Hongkong and his imminent departure therefrom had caused among the Chinese a general feeling of regret, and it was only to a certain extent lessened by the knowledge that he would not be so very far away, and that he would be chiefly engaged in governing and promoting the welfare of their countrymen in the northern Colony. They were also sustained by the hope that someday, not very far distant, it might please His Majesty the King to send him back to Hongkong to occupy the most exalted position in the government of this Colony (applause). In the meantime, however, they had to bid him farewell and, in so doing, could not help recalling the past 20 years in which he had served the Colony so well and so successfully. In 1882 he returned from Canton to find Hongkong in a depressed condition, owing to the collapse of the great land speculation that occurred during the year previous; and he found also an embittered feeling between two important sections of the community. Young as Mr. Lockhart was then, and although occupying a minor position in the government, he at once interested himself in the welfare of the Colony, and endeavoured to promote a better understanding between the Europeans and Chinese (applause). For a very few years only did he occupy the position of Assistant Colonial Secretary, as his distinguished ability and profound knowledge of Chinese secured him a rapid promotion to the important post of Registrar General, where he came into intimate and frequent contact with the Chinese community. It was in that office that the Chinese came directly under his inspiring influence, and it was in the discharge of his duties as Registrar General and Protector of Chinese that they received so much benefit from his hands. The period of his tenure of that office was marked by great progress among the Chinese, and by the adoption of more effective measures for the preservation of order and peace among them. The leading Chinese citizens, who had hitherto been more or less apathetic to public affairs, came forward in comparatively large numbers and took a keener and more active interest in making effective the public weal. They accorded the Government heartier co-operation and support. They gave largely to the various local charitable institutions and took a more active part in their management. It was Mr. Lockhart who reorganised the present District Watchmen force and obtained the appointment of twelve representative Chinese gentlemen as a supervising Committee and as an advisory Board to the Government. It was Mr. Lockhart who remodelled the Po Leung Kuek and placed it in its present permanent and satisfactory condition. The noteworthy improvements in the Tung Wa Hospital which had been effected without in any way interfering with the management by the Chinese, were largely due to him, and the five Hospitals, that have been established principally for the treatment of sick Chinese, such as the Alice and Netherdale Hospitals had had his unremitting and energetic support. He had taken a large share in the suppression of the Triad and kindred secret societies. He had quietly, but effectively, and without bloodshed, settled many a strike and quelled many a riot caused by the coolie and labouring classes. During the last seven years he had held the office of Colonial Secretary and that of Registrar General combined, and although his official duties were thus multiplied to an enormous extent, he had never neglected the welfare of the Chinese; but, on the contrary, had proved to them that, however much he had been occupied with other duties, he had always a spare moment to devote to their interests. Finally, as Commissioner of the New Territory, Mr. Lockhart had been successful in establishing order and in bringing to its large native population peace and good Government. The Chinese community appreciated fully his kindness and were most thankful for his solicitude for their welfare. The presentation of this address was a humble and grateful acknowledgment of the many benefits which in serving the Government faithfully and well, Mr. Lockhart had been able to bestow upon them. In presenting Mr. Stewart Lockhart with the address, he could not help referring to Mrs. Lockhart (applause). Most of the Chinese present had received kindness from her hands, and were most grateful to her for her courteous and gentle kindness.

them, and their regret in parting with her was indeed very great (applause). Her loss would be felt, they ventured to think, not only by the Chinese, but by all sections of the community (Hear, hear), and they could only hope that in Wei-hai-wei she would be able to found a new home and would have good health and strength to give her husband support in the enterprise and undertaking to which he had been appointed by His Majesty to inaugurate and carry out. (Applause.) The address was then read in English by Dr. Ho Kai and afterwards in Chinese by Mr. Lau Chu Pak. It was as follows:—

To the Honourable J. H. Stewart Lockhart, C.M.G.

Hongkong 19th April, 1902.

Sir,—On Behalf of the Chinese Community of Hongkong we beg to wish you a hearty and earnest farewell on your leaving the Colony, and to offer you our sincerest congratulations on your appointment to be First Civil Commissioner of Wei-hai-wei.

It was with mingled feelings of pleasure and regret that we first received the news—pleasure at learning that one so well known to us had received the promotion that his services have merited, and regret at the thought that the time was quickly approaching when the bonds, which during the last 20 years have drawn us so closely together, must at last be severed.

Your promotion testifies to the appreciation in which His Majesty's Government holds your services. We, on our side, can speak of the cordial relations which have existed between you and His Majesty's Chinese subjects ever since you returned from Canton in 1882 on the completion of your Chinese studies. And it has been a source of satisfaction to us and has no doubt helped you greatly to understand the motives that influence our conduct, the feelings by which we are stirred, and the ideals which we put before us; that not content with the knowledge of Chinese which the Government so wisely requires from its officers you have continued to give a large share of your leisure time to the study of our literature.

It would be improper for us to speak of your services to the Chinese Community, and it would be incorrect to do so, but we are pleased to be able to recall that in serving faithfully your Queen, your King and your Country, you have been able to bestow many benefits on the Chinese. The Po Leung Kuek, which owes its present assured position in great measure to your energy and powers of organization, will long remain, we hope, a memorial of you. The record of the proceedings of the Tung Wa Hospital Commission shows plainly the desire which has always actuated you that fair play should be shown to us in our efforts to do good, however faulty and insufficient they may appear to Europeans. And, though the secrets of Government are well kept, we flatter ourselves that during the last ten years we have been able more than once to trace the effect of your Counsels in the actions of the Government.

When we recall the names of those who have been Registrar General, we Hongkong Chinese feel, and with good reason, deeply grateful to the British Government.

Your predecessors, Sir Cecil Smith, Sir James Russell, Dr. Stewart, have left their mark on local Chinese politics. Their names are household names among us. In clear-sightedness, ability and devotion to duty you have nobly carried on the traditions of the office, and it will be long before your name is forgotten in Hongkong or in the neighbouring districts.

It is now your lot to be transferred to Wei-hai-wei. In Hongkong you have had the footsteps of your predecessors to guide you. In Wei-hai-wei you will be the first of a line. It will be for you to lay the foundations of a new Colony which may in time rival Hongkong in prosperity.

If the foundations are laid on the same plan as those of this Colony, if our fellow countrymen are encouraged as they have been here, by equal law and equal rights, to trust their families and their property to the protection of the British Flag, we anticipate a bright future for Wei-hai-wei. Under your experienced guidance we feel confident that the troubles and perplexities of a young Colony will be rapidly overcome and that the traditions of British Freedom will be maintained inviolate.

But it is not only your public merits that have moved us to present this address; we ask to be allowed to claim you as a personal friend. Some of us have grown up from youth to middle-age with you, some of us you have known whilst boys at school. Your urbanity, good-nature and tact are known to all of us. Those who pride themselves on being your friends respect you for your sympathy, good counsel and benevolence.

We feel that any address to you without a reference to Mrs. Stewart-Lockhart would indeed be incomplete. We Chinese have always found in her a kind and sympathetic friend and we hope that such a fitting and worthy help-mate may be long spared to you.

We wish you both a hearty farewell and all prosperity and happiness in your new sphere. We hope that you will accept as a slight token of our respect and esteem the accompanying book which may serve to remind you and Mrs. Stewart-Lockhart of your many Chinese friends and admirers in Hongkong.

Mr. Yip Hoi Shan then read and presented to Mr. Stewart Lockhart an address on behalf of the Po Leung Kuek.

Mr. Stewart Lockhart then rose to reply and, in his opening sentences, admitted that it was difficult to find words adequate to acknowledge the too flattering remarks made by Dr. Ho Kai in his speech, and the kind expressions contained in the address. But he took it that the real object in meeting that day was not so much to pay a compliment to himself personally, as to show their high appreciation of the rule under which they had the privilege to live (Hear, hear). They were quite right in appreciating the privileges of British rule, which gave freedom to every nationality, regardless of race or creed. He was very glad that he had had the good fortune to be an official of the Government and, for so many years, had been brought into intimate relations with the Chinese community. Any success that might have attended his efforts in the post of Registrar-General was almost entirely due to that hearty co-operation and ready assistance which he had received at all times from the members of the Chinese community, for without such co-operation it would be impossible for any government to discharge in an effective manner the important affairs of a community with customs and habits so peculiar to itself such as the Chinese community. He was glad they had afforded him the opportunity of thanking them for all the kindness and assistance he had received from them in the past—kindness and assistance which had made his task an easy one, and which had enabled the Government to carry on affairs in a much more harmonious manner than would otherwise have been possible. Dr. Ho Kai, he said, had referred to his connection with the Po Leung Kuek, the Tung Wa Hospital and the District Watchmen force. He could only say that anything he had done to help any of those Institutions had been done with great pleasure, and he would always be glad to think they had been able to say that the little he had done had been of assistance in helping those Institutions to carry on the excellent work with which they were entrusted. He was sorry he was about to leave Hongkong and to leave those whom he had known for so many years and among whom he had so many good friends, but he reminded them that the distance from here to Wei-hai-wei was not so very great and trusted that he would have the pleasure of meeting many of his Cantonese friends at that place. He assured them that he had great belief in the enterprise of the Cantonese race and, without wishing to say anything in regard to the other race in China, he sincerely hoped he would have the pleasure of seeing Cantonese enterprise in Wei-hai-wei. He also thanked them most sincerely for the very kind references that had been made to his wife. There was a general, but a very false impression, that the Chinese had not that high respect for their wives which existed among people in the Western lands. That was an erroneous and false impression, but his knowledge of the Chinese had told him that a wife in China, as in his own country, exercised a very wholesome influence over the Chinese community in Hongkong (loud applause). He heartily echoed everything they had said in regard to Mrs. Stewart-Lockhart. In conclusion he observed that he did not think it was necessary to keep the memory of them green, but he had much pleasure in accepting it and assured them that when he read it in Wei-hai-wei it would serve to remind him of the very many pleasant hours he had spent in the Colony, and of his many friends in the Chinese community who had always proved to him loyal and ready to help whenever he had asked for their assistance (applause). He would now say "good-bye," and trusted that many of them would meet him again at Wei-hai-wei (Applause).

Mr. Stewart Lockhart then acknowledged in Chinese the address of the Po Leung Kuek, his former remarks having been interpreted into the native tongue by Mr. Ho Feok.

After three cheers and a "tiger" had been given for the Hon. and Mrs. Stewart Lockhart the proceedings terminated.

THE KWANG-SI REBELLION.

REPORTED FALL OF NANNING.

Canton, 18th April.

Considerable excitement was caused here this morning when it became known that a belated courier had arrived from Kwang-si with news to the effect that the important city of Nanning, a treaty port, had been besieged and (some say) captured by the rebels. The Viceroy and the officials at the Yamen are at a loss as to what to do, and have wired up to Peking for instructions.

In connection with the above alarming news, perhaps the following interview with Mr. M. Landis, of the American Mission, may prove of interest to our readers. Yes, said Mr. Landis, affairs are not so quiet as the majority of people think. It was through the unsettled state of affairs that my wife and myself came down here. We are on our way back to America. I have been for over 7 years in Nanning and districts lying about Nanning, and I can confidently assure you that this rising, which has been on foot for a considerable period, has assumed very serious dimensions. In fact, I had an opportunity to talk to one of Marshal Su's men, and he asserted that it would at least take three years to stamp out the outbreak. The rebels are reported to have over 100,000 well-armed men, and are capable of resisting the Imperial troops; who, by the way, are armed very badly. Well, the commencement of all trouble was due to the harsh treatment meted out by the Prefect of the Province. His actions have been open revolt. The gentry and the business portion of the people are likewise not in sympathy with the Government; they are secretly on the side of the rebels, though at present they seem to maintain a neutral attitude.

From what I have heard, the intentions of the rebels are to overthrow the present Ching dynasty (Manchu) and to re-establish a regular Chinese Government. They are not anti-foreign at all. All the converts are treated with every respect. As an instance, all the Imperial boats carrying goods, etc., are attacked, but I have not heard of a single case wherein the boats of the converts have been attacked. As one who has lived amongst them, I can safely say they are not anti-foreign at all, they are anti-Manchu, and are very bitter against the present dynasty. Well, I believe that the Triad Society has a great deal to do with the movement, but I have never heard of them being styled the Hungs yet. Only last month no less than thirty Imperial guard boats, containing a large quantity of arms and ammunition, were captured by the rebels, whilst they have also commandeered all the boats serving up the river from Wuchow containing salt. The rebels make their headquarters in the ridge of mountains, and seem to be quite up to all sorts of guerrilla warfare. Unless the Imperial Government send up a big army, properly led, I am afraid that the rebels will prove victorious. I am sorry I cannot give you any more news, as I find in reading through you files that the news contained in them is pretty accurate.

THE NEW KOWLOON SCHOOL.

OPENED THIS AFTERNOON.

The beautiful weather this afternoon enabled a large gathering of influential citizens to assemble at Kowloon on the occasion of the opening of the new School by H. E. Major-General Gascoigne. It is well-known that for some time past the European inhabitants of Kowloon have been agitating for a school in which their children could be trained, and though many difficulties arose they were at last overcome and the residents of the district have now to thank Mr. Ho Tung for the very generous manner in which he came forward and offered the government the necessary funds.

The new school is situated on the Robinson Road and is undoubtedly one of the most attractive buildings in the district. Its construction was commenced in 1900, from plans prepared by Messrs. Palmer and Turner, of Queen's Road, and in July of that year the Governor, Sir H. A. Blake, laid the foundation stone in the presence of a very large assembly of people. The building which is costing $12,000 is an imposing red brick structure in the Gothic style of architecture, and is fitted in every particular with the most modern requirements.

The boy's school he conducted on the lines of the public schools of England while the girl's department will be similar to the High Schools at home. Only Europeans are to be allowed to enter for tuition, and it is satisfactory to find that up to the present, about 50 names of entrants have already been received. All the masters are to be men from the universities and will be in the proportion of one to every 25 scholars.

Owing to the great pressure on our columns to-day we are compelled to withhold a detailed account of the proceedings until our Monday's issue.

COLLEGE OF MEDICINE FOR
CHINESE AND THE HON. J. H.
STEWART LOCKHART.

PRESENTATION.

In the Legislative Council Chamber yesterday afternoon the Hongkong College of Medicine for Chinese presented an address to the Hon. J. H. Stewart Lockhart, C.M.G., Rector of the College, prior to his departure to Wei-hai-wei. There were present H.E. the Officer Administering the Government (in the Chair), the Hon. J. H. Stewart Lockhart, C.M.G., the Hon. Dr. Ho Kai, Dr. Clark (Dean of the College), Dr. J. C. Thomson (Hon. Secretary), Dr. R. Maclean Gibson, Dr. Noble, Dr. R. Gibson, Dr. P. Krieg, and many others, including a large number of the students of the College.

The Chairman said—Gentlemen, the object for which we are all met to-day, as I think everybody here knows, is to take farewell of Mr. Stewart Lockhart, whose departure shortly from the Colony I deplore quite as much as any of you here can do. I do not propose to detain you longer than these few words, because I know you wish to get to the actual business for which you have come here to-day, and therefore I will now call upon Dr. Clark, Dean of the College, to proceed with the meeting.

Dr. Clark, in presenting the address to Mr. Stewart Lockhart, said—Your Excellency and gentlemen, the honour has fallen upon me of presenting, in the name of the Court, the Senate, and the past and present students of the Hongkong College of Medicine for Chinese, a small token of our appreciation to our Rector, Mr. Stewart Lockhart, on the eve of his departure from these scenes wherein he has laboured for more than twenty years. The severance of old ties and friendships is at best but a saddening process, and I feel sure that, mingled with the justifiable pride at having been selected by His Gracious Majesty the King to govern the newest of our many British possessions in the Far East, Mr. Lockhart cannot but feel a sense of some great loss, some gap which can never again be bridged, that must ever temper the natural elation of one who has been called to wider spheres of action, and who leaves behind him the friendships of his youth and early manhood. Such a sense of loss, however, is even more keenly felt by those who are thus left behind, for upon these devolves the duty of carrying on the old routine, and no easy task, of finding new helpers in the work that must be done. I need hardly remind you that Mr. Lockhart has been associated with our College from its first inception, and shares the no small honour of having worked for its advancement in the early days of its history, with Manson, one of the great leaders of our glorious profession, and with those by-gone worthies Stewart, Young, Chalmers and Francis, who also are now but names in the temple of fame. For seven years Mr. Lockhart has presided over the deliberations of our Court, and has furthered the aims of our College by EVERY MEANS IN HIS POWER. His interest in the natives of China is proverbial, and it is not to be wondered at, therefore, that he saw clearly the immense benefits that must accrue to such of them as live among us, from the foundation of a school for the propagation of Western science and Western methods of treatment of the sick. We are taught that "learning originated in the East and thence spread its benign influence to the West," and it is but just therefore that where the West has improved upon the East, where the little grain of knowledge has increased a hundred fold, that the Mother of Wisdom should reap a share of the harvest. Our aim, as a College has been to spread the little knowledge that we have been privileged to acquire, in our island home among our native fellow-citizens in this far-off Colony, and I think we may fairly claim that our roll of students and of diplomates bears ample evidence that our labours have not been in vain. Mr. Lockhart has done yeoman service in this cause, and we have assembled to-day to bear testimony to that service and to wish him "God speed" in the work that lies before him in the future. Our address therefore is no empty platitude, but the genuine heartfelt wish of a little band of workers whose loss is other's gain. With your permission, sir, I will now read the address and will ask you to hand it to Mr. Lockhart in the name of those who have assembled here to-day to do him honour.

THE ADDRESS.

The address, which was very extensively signed, was as follows:—

To the Honourable JAMES HILDANE STEWART LOCKHART, Companion of the most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Colonial Secretary of the Colony of Hongkong, Rector of the Hongkong College of Medicine for Chinese.

Hongkong, 18th April, 1902.

SIR,—Before you finally sever your long and distinguished connection with Hongkong, and particularly with the College of Medicine for Chinese, we, the Members of the Court, Senate and General Council, and past and present students, resident in the Colony, desire to convey to you our grateful acknowledgment and warm appreciation of the many and valuable services which you have rendered to the College since its inception. You are associated with Manson, Stewart, Young, Chalmers, Francis, Cantile and others, in the founding of the Institution in 1887, when you accepted the office of Treasurer. This office you held until 1895, when you were elected to succeed His Honour Sir Fielding Clarke, Chief Justice, as Rector of the College. You have not rested content with occupying a purely honorary position, but as President of the Court and executive Head of the College you have actively interested yourself in all the various schemes that have been proposed for the furtherance of the objects of the College and for its development. While rejoicing that you have been called to a position of greater responsibility and honour by His Majesty the King, we cannot refrain from an expression of our regret at the loss sustained by the College in your departure, from the Colony; and we desire to assure you that you carry with you our hearty good wishes for your future welfare and for your early promotion to yet more important spheres of public usefulness.

Dr. Clark then handed the address, which was bound in a handsome cover faced with silver, to His Excellency, and he in turn presented it to Mr. Stewart Lockhart, who bowed his acknowledgments.

Dr. Kwan King Leung, one of the licentiates of the College, then spoke. He said—Your Excellency and gentlemen, on behalf of past students of the College I desire to say a few words expressive of our profound respect and admiration for our Rector, the Hon. J. H. Stewart Lockhart, and conveying to him publicly our sincere and heartfelt thanks for his distinguished labours for the good of the College and of the students. Since its foundation until now, Mr. Lockhart has taken an active interest in this College, and anything which tended to promote its welfare had his loyal and ready support. He was a most efficient chief as well as sympathetic friend and supporter, and his place as Rector will be very difficult to fill. We sincerely wish Mr. Lockhart every happiness in his new sphere of usefulness, and we doubt not that before many years have passed we shall hear of his further promotion in the public service of his King and country. (Applause.)

THE STUDENTS' APPRECIATION.

Mr. Ho Kai Tsun said—Your Excellency and gentlemen, in the remarks contained in the speech so eloquently delivered by Dr. Kwan King Leung, on behalf of past students of the College I heartily concur, but on behalf of myself and on behalf of my fellow-students now prosecuting their professional studies in the College, I am desirous of making some additional observations. No one can appreciate as we do the honorary and valuable services which have been rendered to the College by Mr. Lockhart. As its Rector he neglected no means and opportunities of increasing its efficiency, he always had the welfare of the students at heart, and everything affecting their professional training had due and careful consideration. We scarcely know how to express adequately to Mr. Lockhart our obligations and thanks, but we can assure him that our gratitude is both deep and sincere, and we shall long cherish his memory in our hearts, and our earnest wish is, that wherever Mr. Lockhart goes may he and his have perfect happiness, good health, and prosperity. (Applause.)

Mr. Stewart Lockhart was greeted with loud applause upon rising to address the meeting, and when it had subsided he said that in the first place he desired to thank them for the personal remarks that had been made regarding himself, and to thank His Excellency for being present and taking such an active part in the proceedings, thus showing his sympathy with the College. With regard to the kind remarks which had been made and also embodied in the address, he could only say that words of fire had been heaped on his head, because, so far as the institution was concerned, any property that had attended it was not due to him, but to the staff, past and present, of doctors and students. Therefore, when he said that

COALS OF FIRE HAD BEEN HEAPED ON HIS HEAD, he meant that he was being given credit and praise for that which he had not done. That credit and that praise must be awarded to the lecturers and professors who had attended at the College and laboured without the least hope of reward, actuated solely and simply by a desire to further the interests of the profession of which they were such distinguished ornaments. It was another proof of that self-denial so characteristic of the medical profession. He thought that they were chiefly due the thanks for having encouraged and carried on the College of Medicine over a period of fifteen years. Proceeding to refer to the history of the College, he said that in 1887 it was first inaugurated by Dr. Manson, when curiously enough His Excellency's predecessor in office, Major-General W. G. Cameron C.B., who then also occupied the position of Major-General Gascoigne to-day, that of the Officer Administering the Government of this Colony, occupied the chair. The institution had had its struggles and adventures, and for a long time it was hoped it would have a local habitation. One gentleman very kindly came forward and undertook to provide a building if a sufficient endowment could be found. Unfortunately, however, no endowment was forthcoming, and that very generous offer was withdrawn. The College was not discouraged and continued to carry on its good work and he was glad to say the Government had at last RECOGNISED THE VALUE OF THAT WORK, and in this year's Estimates was inserted a sum which would give a slight honourarium to those engaged in the work of the institution. It must not be supposed that this honourarium was anything like a meet reward for such services, but it was an indication that the Government recognised and appreciated their work. Besides granting this sum in the Estimates, the Government had also undertaken to establish a dispensary in the western part of the city, in charge of which would be placed one of the diplomates of the College of Medicine for Chinese. This, everybody would agree, was a step in the right direction, especially in view of the known antipathy of the Chinese to Western treatment. He had every confidence that the dispensary, which was under the control of the Medical Department of the Colony, and in which Mr. Browne, the Government analyst, who he was glad to see present, took a great interest, had a great and brilliant future. It had had and was still having

MANY DIFFICULTIES TO FACE, not the least of which, as had already been said, was the want of a local habitation. The institution was filling a very great want in the Colony, and it would be remembered that during a discussion some time ago in the Sanitary Board, it was mentioned that it would be an excellent thing if graduates of the College could be obtained to instruct the native community in sanitary matters. He also pointed out that many students who had received their diplomas from the College had been engaged by the Straits Settlements Government, who recognised the value of Chinese trained in western medical science, and seeing that the Government had recognised that value, he said he had written asking if that Government would be disposed to join in a scheme with the Government of this Colony to establish a College in which the lecturers would be as at present—

VOLUNTEERS WILLING TO GIVE THEIR SERVICES

without hope of reward. No answer had yet been received from the Straits Settlements, but he trusted that it would be a favourable one, because it would considerably lessen the difficulty of establishing a proper College, as the Straits Settlements would then join with this Government in sharing the expenses of the institution. After thanking Dr. Kwan King Leung and Mr. Ho Koi Tsun for their eulogistic references to himself, Mr. Stewart Lockhart addressed the students in words of advice and encouragement, and said he trusted that in the future they would use every effort to maintain the high reputation of the College of Medicine for Chinese. He once again thanked everyone for what had been said regarding himself, and his only regret was that he felt he in no way deserved it. (Loud applause.)

THANKS.
Dr. Ho Kai—I rise with great pleasure to propose a vote of thanks to His Excellency, who has been so kind to all of us to come here to-day and preside over us, thus showing, as has been remarked, his sympathy with the institution with which we all have the honour of being associated. (Loud applause.)

His Excellency—Gentlemen, I beg to thank you with my whole heart for having so kindly received the mention of my name. It was a very great pleasure, believe me—in fact, I consider it a great honour—to have been asked to come and preside here. It gives me another opportunity of expressing the great sense of obligation I feel I am under to Mr. Lockhart for the

ABLE AND LOYAL CO-OPERATION with which he has worked with me during the time—I grant you, a very short time—I have had the high honour of administering the Government. Up to the time of my coming to that high office, I had only known Mr. Lockhart in pleasant, social intercourse, but since I have worked with him I have recognised the loyal desire he has not only to do his duty by his immediate chief, but to do his duty throughly in the interests of the Colony, and I therefore would venture to take the opportunity of thanking him for his loyal co-operation with me in my work. As regards myself, the longer I have the honour of administering the Government of the Colony, every day do I feel more and more how grateful I am for the opportunity of being placed in that high position. I learn every day new things connected with the civil administration of the Colony, things which are of daily increasing interest to me, and among them this College of Medicine, which—I say it in all humility—I knew very little of before I had the honour of administering the Government. I know very little now about all these things, and it is a great privilege to me to assist at anything in connection with which my knowledge is not so extensive as I could wish it to be. I therefore simply say that every time I am asked to take the chair at such meetings as this I always welcome the opportunity because it gives me a great opportunity of learning something of the working of the Colony. (Loud applause.)

The proceedings then terminated.

BARONSKI'S INTERNATIONAL VAUDEVILLE CO.

A capital programme was presented to a very good house last night. Several new turns appeared, and were very favourably received. The sparkling dance of Mrs. Baronski deserves special mention. Her graceful movements with limelight effects elicited storms of applause. The whole of the programme was gone through without any hitch whatever. The performance of Miss Jany on the black wire, M. Rost in his horizontal bar act, the effective Marble Tableau by four ladies, the "Gentleman Juggler" by Mr. C. Belling and the comedies by the Bros. Car met with a good reception by the audience. The programme concluded with the historical pantomime King Solomon.

CANTON NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent).
CANTON, April 17th.
KWANG-SI REBELLION.

It still continues difficult to get reliable news regarding the rebellion in Kwang-si. The one thing that seems to be definitely ascertained is that the rebellion is spreading. The Canton officials continue to give out reports favorable to the Imperial troops. A gentleman who has spent considerable time in Kwang-si returned from Wu Chow to-day. He has lately been in the neighbourhood of Nan Ning and tells some interesting things about the present trouble. Part of his trip down was made in company with Marshal Sou's family. According to this gentleman there has been no very serious fighting between the rebels and the troops. The rebels who now number over ten thousand are broken up into small parties of one or two hundred men. They are here to-day and away to-morrow. Two or three of these bands will unite and loot a village and scatter before the troops can attack. The rebels are well armed. About five thousand have repeating rifles and there is also considerable quantity of smokeless powder in the hands of the rebels. These rebels do not seem to have any definite plan. Whatever the outcome may be at present, there does not seem to be any desire to overthrow the present dynasty. They are in for plunder. Having got going they must keep going. About 4000 of these rebels are ex-soldiers. They took their rifles and ammunition with them because they were due back pay and could not get it. Marshal Sou dismissed these soldiers and declares he will not have them back. He has called for 15,000 Hunanese but there has not been a very prompt response to his call. According to Marshal Sou it will take at least three years to restore order, so some of his followers report him. The rebels show no desire to fight the troops.

This is the substance of what this gentleman said and he seems to be well informed. This afternoon a report reached Canton to the effect that Nan Ning is now besieged by the rebels, and that the troops are gathering for an attack. If this proves true we may hear of some real fighting soon. One or two such engagements would tell what the rebellion has in it. Another report to hand to-day is that a village west from Kwai Ping had been plundered by the rebels and upwards of 1,000 persons put to death.

SOMETHING NEW.
Most of your readers will remember that the French and United States Consuls agreed upon some "Regulations" for the guidance of their respective nationals. These "Regulations" were approved by the French Bishop and by several Protestant missionaries and then, as agreed to by the consuls, the Viceroy issued a proclamation embodying the "Regulations." After the proclamation had been posted throughout the province the Viceroy, at the instance of the French Consul, had the proclamation taken down. About ten days ago an article signed "William Ashmore" appeared in one of the Hongkong papers under the heading "Who Rules the Two Kwangs." According to this writer the French Consul had the "Regulations" annulled, and consequently the inference is that the French Consul rules the Two Kwangs, the United States Consul having been ignored in the recall of the proclamation. A case has just come to my notice which shows that these "Regulations" have not been annulled. A French priest took up a case that was purely Chinese. This fact was brought to the notice of the United States Consul as a violation of the "Regulations." The French Consul was notified and he immediately wrote to the United States Consul that he would notify the priest that this interference would not be allowed. This is something new. Was it ever heard of before, that a French Consul directed a priest to keep hands off? Enquiry at the U. S. Consulate elicited the information that the "Regulations" had not been annulled and would not be annulled. The U. S. Consul had not been ignored in the taking down of the proclamations. He was consulted and agreed that as the "Regulations" were to remain in force it rested with the Viceroy whether or not the proclamation should remain posted.

It seems a pity that the British Consul and the German Consul had not entered into this agreement. It is, so far as I know, the first honest attempt that has been made to avoid friction and more serious trouble between the Catholics, Protestants and the heathen. The "Regulations" have been heartily approved of by all the officials, in fact by all the disinterested Chinese. Almost as hearty approval has been given by foreigners here and at home. There is little doubt that nine tenths of all quarrels in which missionaries, Protestant and Catholic, are involved would be avoided by their observance. This being the case it surely follows that the United States Consul should receive the support of the British and German consuls.

To U. S. Consul McWade belongs the honour of having had these "Regulations" adopted, and if he leaves behind him these "Regulations" in successful operation his sojourn in China, whether long or short, will not have been in vain.

NOTICE.

THE SECOND VOLUME OF BOXES EXCHANGE TABLES, with Rates in 1/10ths from 1/10 to 1/100 down to 1/1000, is now in the bookbinder's hands and will be published next week. These Tables, which run in columns of 100, from 1/100 down to 1/1000, and from 1/101 down to 1/1000 down to 1 cent, enable the user to arrive at the value in Dollars of any sum in Sterling under £1,000 by simply adding the equivalent of the Shillings and Pence to that of the Pounds; or to get the value in Sterling of any sum of Dollars and Cents under $1,000 by adding the equivalent of the Cents to that of the Dollars. By these simple means of computation a very considerable saving of time and trouble, besides securing a ready means of proving accuracy is secured, as is illustrated in the following examples. To reduce £379,17.11 into Dollars at Exchange 1/10 1/16—
£379. 0. 0 = $9,561. 926
17.11 = 9. 745
$9,571. 671
whereas, with the other exchange books the process would be as follows:—
£379. 0. 0 = $8,702. 550
70. 0. 0 = 761. 473
9. 0. 0 = 97. 904
17. 0. 0 = 9. 247
11. 0. 0 = 497
$9,571. 671
or to reconvert the dollars into sterling at the same rate of exchange—
$9,571. 671 = £327. 6. 10. 8
571. 671 = 52. 9. 9. 11
671 = 1. 2. 13
£327. 6. 10. 8
but by other books it would be:—
$9,571. 671 = £327. 6. 10. 8
500. 000 = 45. 10. 3. 4
70. 000 = 6. 8. 8. 0
1. 000 = 1. 10. 1
600 = 1. 1. 3
70 = 1. 9
£327. 6. 10. 8
Every care has been taken in compiling these Tables to insure their accuracy and even as the book was being printed the last impression of each sheet was taken and carefully rechecked by two separate persons and any little errors as these are carefully corrected in each copy before it is issued, thus making it a most accurate and useful book. Subscriptions for this and the previous volume, may be sent to the Daily Telegraph Office, Price $10 per copy. Hongkong, 16th February, 1902. [172d]

DRESSMAKING DEPARTMENT.

This section of our business is a new venture and has met with extraordinary success during the past 4 months.

All work cut and supervised by our dressmaker who, having had High Class Colonial and Home experience has attained the knowledge required to connect Style and Fashion with comfort in creating suitable toilets for Eastern wear.

We intend making this department a specialty and ladies will do well to give us a trial.

Our London and Parisienne buyers have Instructions to keep us up to date and supplied with all the latest and most Fashionable Goods so that our patrons may be assured of procuring everything of the newest and best.

Ball Dresses, Bridal Gowns, Afternoon Costumes. Mourning orders executed at shortest possible Notice.

Space will not allow us to quote the thousands of articles stocked in this establishment but two words will convey all that is necessary viz GENERAL STORE. Do not fail to enquire for ANYTHING you may want.
